

Happy New Year!

To all our patients, we wish you a happy and healthy 2012!

Change is in the air...

January is the time for dental insurance changes – before your next visit, please let us know if your coverage changed. This way we can have your new coverage all set in our system before your appointment. It's ok if you don't get a new insurance card – many carriers don't send them anymore. All we need is the insurance carrier name and a group number.

January

Is also the time for your benefits to start over and maximums are replenished... so if there is work that has been postponed waiting for new benefits, then now is the time to call and appoint!

Do you read and 'follow' our blog? Do you 'like' our facebook page? If not, you're missing out on things! Fun stories, updates on what our office is doing, our trips, photos... and every so often a sneak preview of a giveaway! I'll even supply the link to our blog – which will also give you the option to 'like' us on facebook! <http://dentalendeavors.blogspot.com/>

Did you ever...

Walk into a room and forget what you went in there for? Getting your teeth cleaned might actually help you remember... a study published in the Journal of Neurology, Neurosurgery and Psychiatry hints that good oral care, including regular brushing and flossing and trips to the dentist may help aging adults keep their thinking skills intact.
